Subject:	test suite isn't reporting component crashes
Description:	The test failure Mark introduced last week was in fact an engine crash. But the test suite wasn't reporting that (thought it did capture the core files which was great at helping me track down cause). Given the degree of fault tolerance we have in VisIt, its important we check not only for pass/fail image/text comparisons but also whether anything 'bad' happened in the process, like a non-viewer component crashing.
